HOW DOES THIS WORK?

Welcome to our digital Rally guide. This booklet is fully optimized for your smartphone, so you don't have to print it.

Navigator

We've made this booklet interactive so you can easily find your way around. At the top of each page you will find the navigator. Here you can see which page you are on and by pressing the menu button you can always go back to the main menu. You can try it out here if you like.

If you are in the main menu, you can also navigate to the different chapters by simply clicking on them.

This button will lead you to Google Maps.

This button will lead you to the website of the sight or accomodation.

P.S. people who are not very handy with technology can also just scroll through the document. 🤗

RALLY-COMMITTEE

We, the Rally Committee of Stylos 126, present to you a guide that you and your friends can use to go on the perfect rally adventure. The route presented in this guide will take you on a journey through The Netherlands, Germany and Belgium along the theme Welle oder Winkel. (which means something like curvy or edgy)

Along the way you can choose to visit a number of different sites and do different activities in and around the cities on the route. For all the different cities along the route you will also find a number of different accommodation options. For the real adventurers we picked out some campsites but you can also find a number of hostel options for the ones who like to sleep in a bed. Finally, we won't leave you hungry and we have listed a number of nice and cheap places to eat near the different cities. Altogether, with the help of this guide, your rally adventure can not go wrong. Except when your car breaks down.

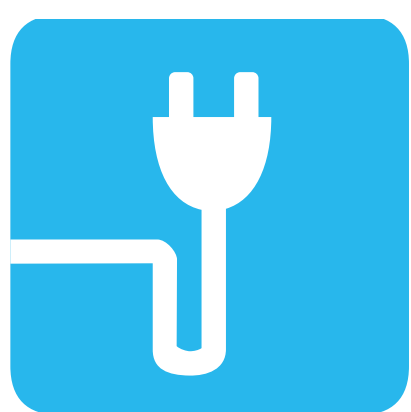

SUSTAINABILITY

To make this year's Rally more sustainable we have chosen to create a route that has a maximum of 800 kilometers. In addition, we want to introduce you to an electric car rental that is called Sixt. Sixt is one of the cheapest but most reliable car rental places. Be smart and rent an electric car, this will not only save you money but will make sure you have zero emissions during your road trip.

You can use the Chargemap to locate a charging station when you need a recharge.

DÜSSELDORF

1 Day visit

Guide: Anne

This German city close to the border of Holland is a very popular destination for tourists. The most popular area is called 'Altstadt' which means the oldest part of Düsseldorf. Although it's called this way, most of the buildings are a rebuilt version of the old versions that existed before WWII. A big part of the city has been destroyed during the war. In Altstadt there are a few museums, nice shoppingstreets and also bars etc. It's the roaring center of the city. There are a lot of nice things to do in the city, but we will get back to that!

Tiger & Turtle

This piece of art is designed by Heike Mutter and Ulrich Genth. It's about twenty metres high and you can walk on top of this baby yourself! Except for the looping of course. It's name is a bit ambiguous: the shape is based on a tiger, but you can only experience it at the pace of a turtle. Visit this place at night when it gets extra spectacular because of the lighting!

Admission: free
Opening hours: 24 hours a day

SIGHTS

IN THE CITY CENTER OF DÜSSELDORF

The Gehry Buildings

These three buildings are designed by the American Frank Gehry. They are very remarkable as they differ very much. All three buildings are made of different materials: white plaster, metal and red brick. They are a landmark throughout the city and definitely worth the visit.

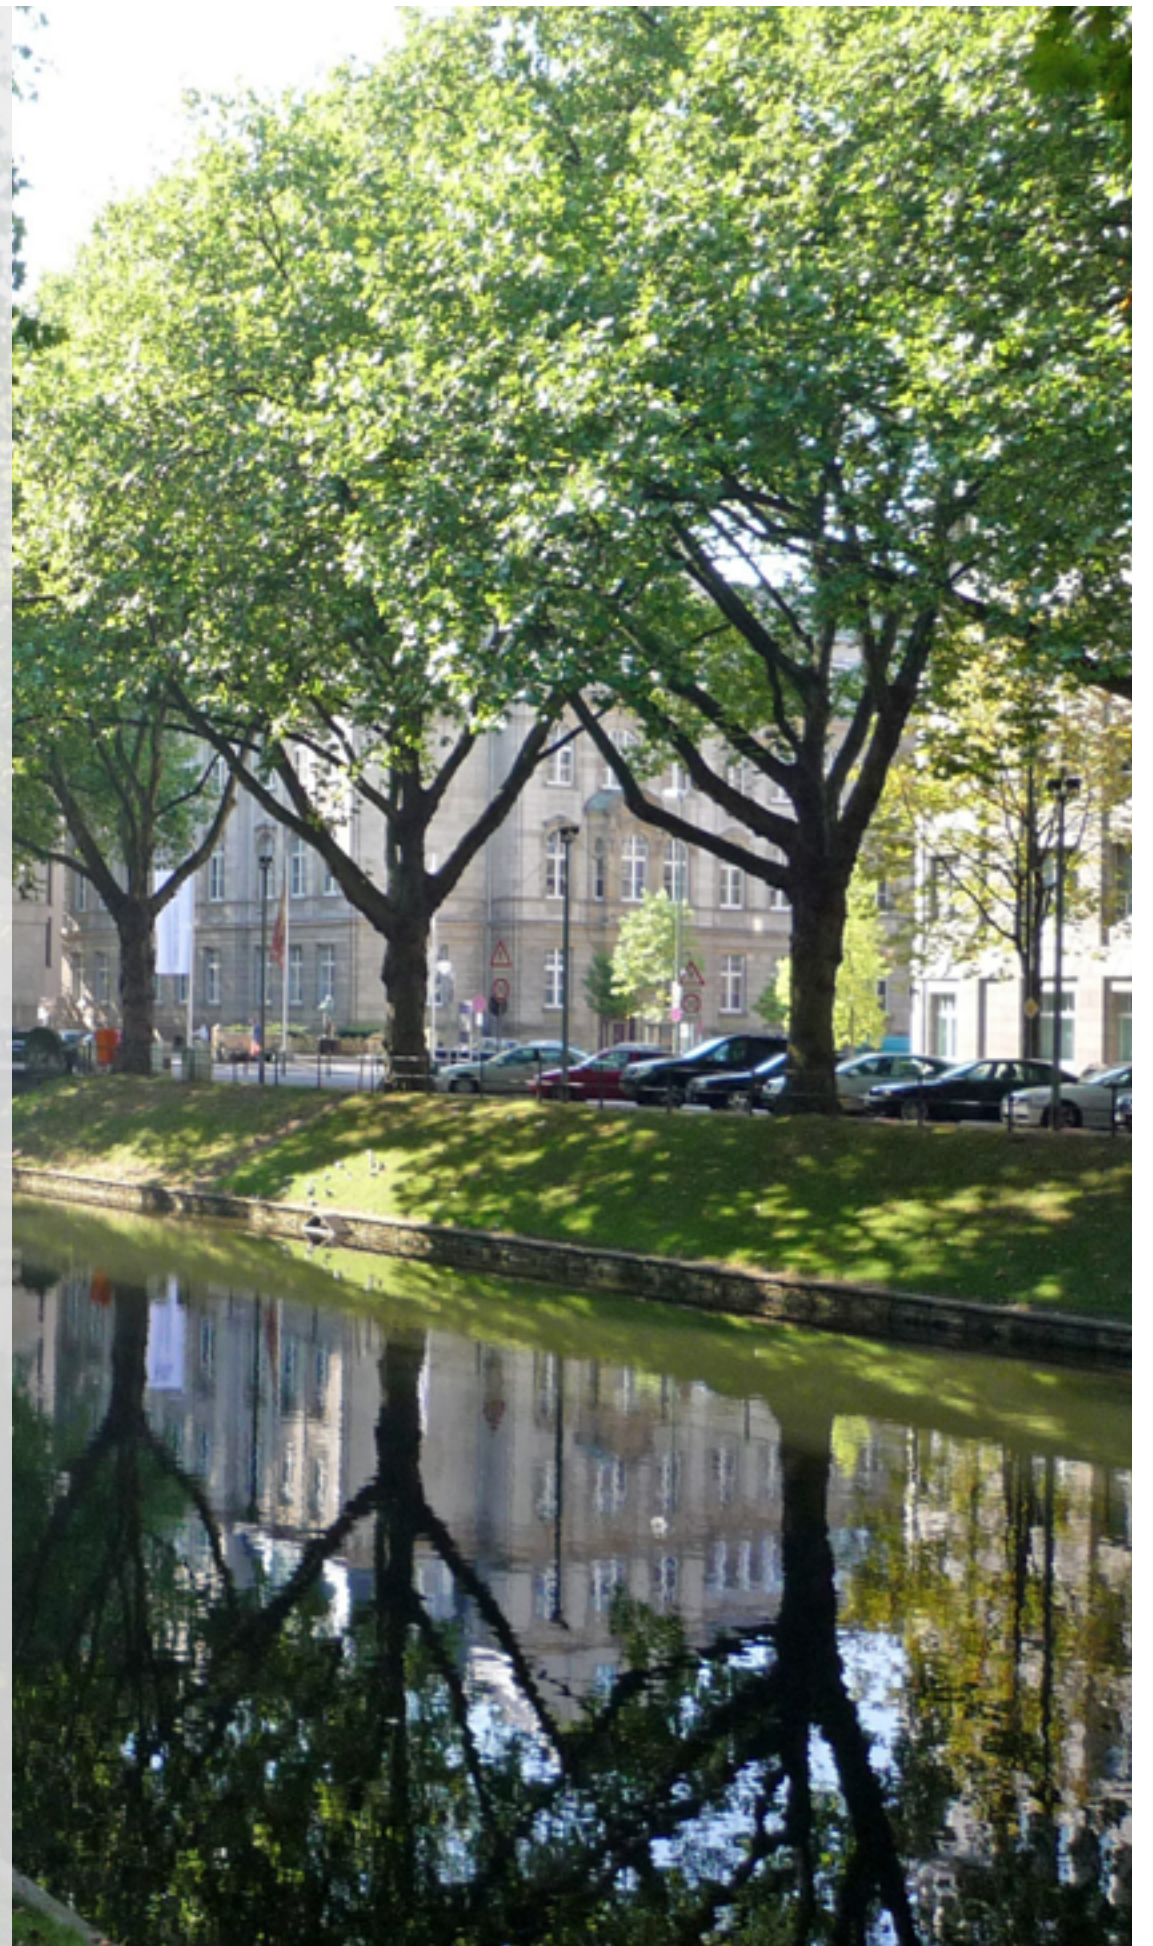

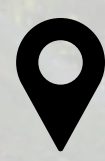

4,5

Königsallee

This exclusive street in Düsseldorf is a must see! The 'Kö' is a place where people can buy luxurious and exclusive things. The street is packed with fancy hotels, boutiques and you'll also find the Düsseldorf there: the river which the city is named after. It's the most visited street in Germany and it's about one kilometer long! Because of this Allee Düsseldorf counts as one of the most elegant shopping metropolises.

Kö Bogen

This office and retail complex is a very spectacular architectural must see. The building connects the city's central park and historic commercial center. It's a dynamic attraction in the heart of the city. It consists of two structures separated by a passageway and joined at the top by a two-story bridge. Plantings have also been added to the facade which makes sure there's plenty shadow. This public passageway connects the commercial area around the Königsallee with the Hofgarten.

FOOD

Spatz up

Need a quick lunch that also keeps you going the rest of the day? This place is not too expensive and they serve typical Zwabische Spätzle.

The Paris Club

Nice place where you can go for a drink but they also offer some tasty food. It's situated on the 16th floor which offers a nice view of the city.

DRINKS

Kaffeehandwerk Flingern

Craving a coffee? This is the best coffee in town so make sure you grab one!

Bar Fifty Nine

Tired after a long day of walking? This is a great place to relax! Grab a nice cocktail here and enjoy the local life of Düsseldorf.

CITY CHALLENGE

Time to take some pictures!

Team up and make sure you can cross these pictures of your list:

- ‘Pushing’ the Rheinturm (Tower of Pisa style)
- Pretending you’re rich at the gucci store (Königsallee 40)
- A picture of all three of the Gehry Buildings
- A sunset picture of tiger & turtle
- Dipping a finger in the Düssel
- Drinking a beer at brewery Schumacher
- Hugging a statue at Hofgarten
- Trying on the worst pyjamas at Primark
- Waving from the middle of the Bastionsbrücke

The team that takes all nine of the pictures first wins!

COLOGNE

1 Day visit

Guide: Max

Cologne (Keulen) offers a mix of sights in very different styles. It could be stated that it is not the prettiest city of Germany, especially not from the perspective of an architecture student, yet we chose to make this city part of our Rally. Not only for its famous gothic Dom, but also because of the interesting museums and other cultural activities.

To continue in the theme of 'Welle oder Winkel' we selected some things to visit or just pass by when you are visiting this ugly or lets call it 'aesthetically interesting' city.

BONN

1 Day visit

Guide: Armance

Bonn is located on the Middle Rhine about 24 km from Cologne. Founded in the 1st century BC as a Roman settlement, Bonn is one of Germany's oldest cities. From 1949 to 1990, it was the capital of West Germany, and still served as the seat of the government after the reunification of Germany until 1999. Bonn is therefore a city with a rich History and has the culture of a nation's capital with it's various architectural building styles and museums. For sure worth a visit!

AACHEN

1 Day visit

Guide: Nona

Aachen is located in the state North Rhine-Westphalia of Germany and adjoins the Dutch border. The city developed from a Roman settlement and spa. Logically, the name Aachen originally comes from the Latin word Aqua, referring to the springs. There is a very big technical education institute in Aachen, the RWTH Aachen University, which has a big architecture faculty. The most important sights in the city have historical value, like the cathedral and the Rathaus. While visiting, you can not forget to try the local specialty Aachener Printen. It's a form of gingerbread that is sweetened with syrup.

MAASTRICHT

Guide: Charlotte

Maastricht is the capital of the Dutch province of Limburg and is located along the river Maas. The name Maastricht comes from the combination of the Latin words Mosa and Trajectum, together meaning “passage through the Maas”. Maastricht is one of the oldest cities of the Netherlands. However, the city never got any official city right, but rather became a city spread over the centuries. In 1229 the city got permission to build its city walls. The city has had an eventful history, resulting in loads of historical buildings and artistic treasures in churches and museums. The city got international recognition through the Agreement of Maastricht in 1992, solidifying the creation of the European Union. Nowadays, the city of Maastricht is viewed by the Dutch people as a sort of foreign place, because of the city’s location close to the Belgian and German border.

St. Servaasbasiliek

The Sint-Servaas Basilica is a church in the city center of Maastricht. The church is perfectly located between the three most popular squares of Maastricht: The Vrijthof, The Keizer Karelplein and The Henric van Veldekeplein. It is believed that the church was built on the grave of Sint Servaas, the first verified bisschop of the Netherlands. It is also believed that the Sint-Servaas is the oldest existing church in the Netherlands. The church is build as a three-aisled cross basilica in Romanesque style using coal sandstone and marl. The basilica has been a national monument since 1990 and the cloisters and treasure room are opened to the public daily.

★★★★★ 4,5

Onze Lieve Vrouwenbasiliek

The Onze Lieve Vrouwe Basilica is a church located in the city center of Maastricht at the Onze Lieve Vrouwe Square. The church is build in the Romanesque style and has been a national monument since 1990. The most famous architectural parts of the church are the west built, the capitals in the ambulatory and the chapel with the impressive Sterre der Zee statue. The church and chapel are open daily and free to roam around in. The cloister and treasure room cost money to visit.

Maastricht Underground

Through the ages a labyrinth of more than 20.000 tunnels has grown underneath the city of Maastricht. These tunnels originate from the extraction of marl, an important building material. Inside the caves and tunnels you can still find writings and drawings that have been left in the marl through the centuries. You can take a guided tour through the northern caves and explore these writings and drawings yourself.

Tour Northern Caves € 7,50 per person.

Bonnefantenmuseum

The Bonnefantenmuseum is a museum for visual arts, most famous for its collection of medieval sculptures, paintings from the south of the Netherlands and contemporary art. The current building was designed by the Italian architect Aldo Rossi. With its rocket shaped, 28 meter high tower places along the Maas, the museum is a modern landmark in Maastricht. But despite the postmodern feel of the tower, the museum still gives of a classical vibe.

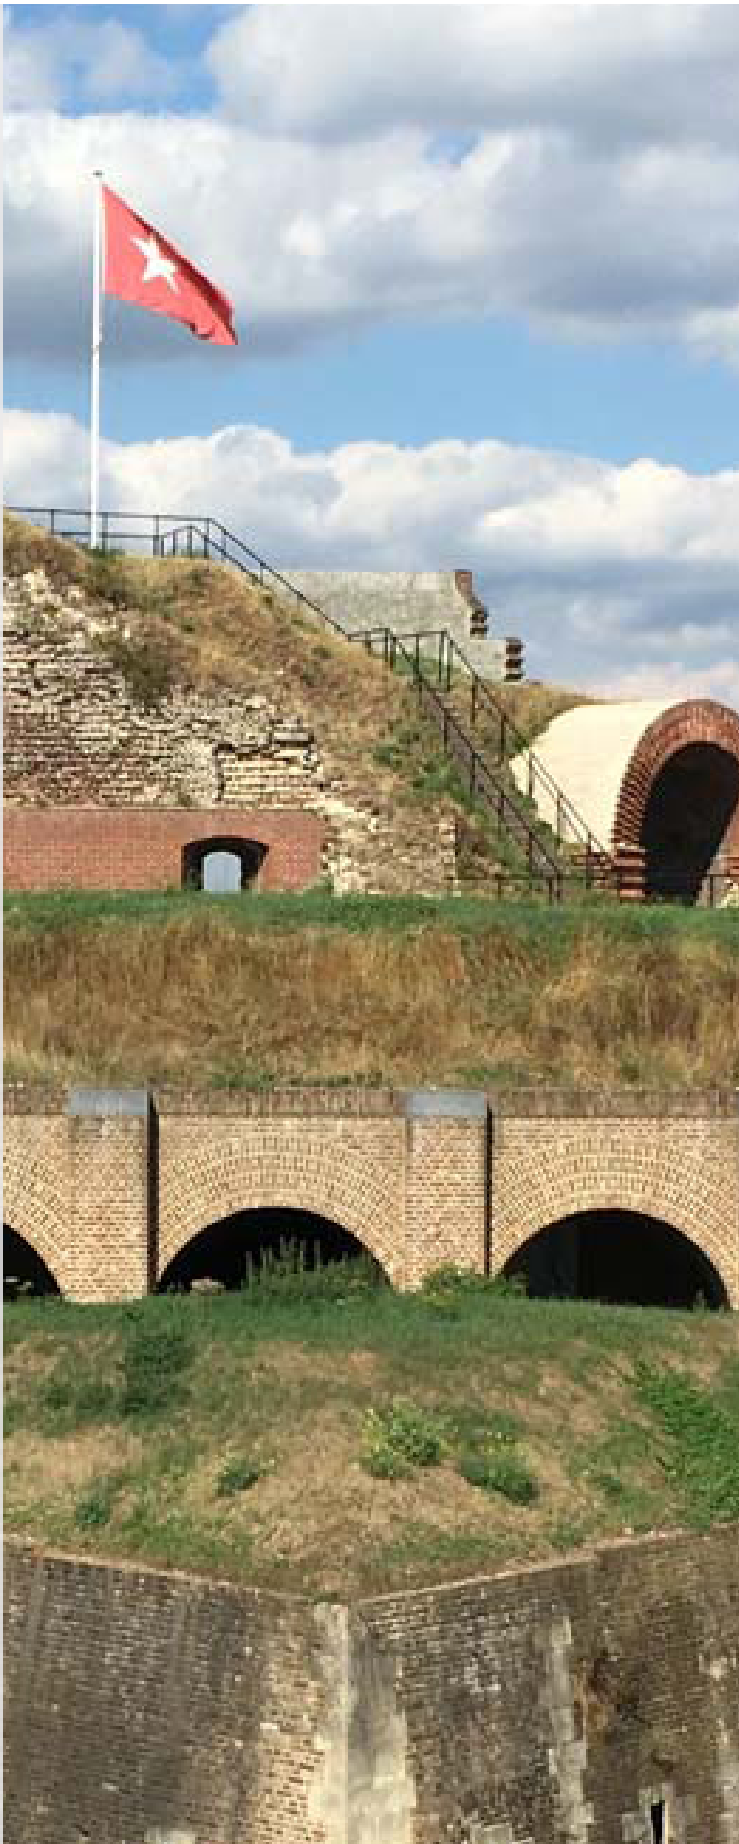

Student price € 7,00 per person

Fort St. Pieter

This fortress built on the northern side of the Sint-Pieter Hill in 1701. Until 1867 the fortress was part of the fortifications of Maastricht and served a military function. Nowadays, the fortress is a national monument and a famous tourist attraction.

AMÜSEMENT

ON THE ROAD

The Singing Game

Connect song lyrics for a fun sing-along game

The Rules:

- One person starts singing a song.
- Using a lyric from the song, the next person has to connect it with another song.
- It continues on until somebody messes up the lyrics or is stumped.

Example:

“I kissed a girl and I...”

“...Really, really, really like you...”

“...Doing that thing you do, breaking my heart into a million...” .

The Alphabet Roadgame

This is an alternative way to play the classic alphabet game.

The Rules:

- Make 2 teams.
- You are trying to find words in alphabetical order.
- You can only use words from things you see outside the car.
- You play as a team and you cannot say two words in a row.
- You win as a team when you get from A to Z.

Regional Food Master

Collect the most regional snacks between the start and finish of your road trip.

The rules:

- Make 2 teams.
- At each gas station you stop at, your team has to find a local snack created within the region the stop is located.
- You can only get one food item per gas station, and the two teams have to get a different snack: first come, first served!
- Whoever has the most snacks by your destination wins.

The Counting Game

See how high you can collectively count without any order.

The rules:

- Somebody random begins with the number one.
- Another person follows at random with the next number.
- If two people say the same number at the same time, you start over.
- If there is more than a five-second pause, you start over.
- You are trying to get to the number 20.

AT THE CAMPING

Beer game

Minimum 6 players

Equipment needed: 6 beer bottles (or other easy to grasp items).

N.B.: There must be the same number of beer bottles as players.

Form 2 teams.

A large designated area is needed. At each end, a 'prison' is made, from a football goal or an area marked by two stumps. On each end line, 'treasures' – 3 beer bottles – are spread out evenly along the whole line. Each team has one half of the field and attacks towards its opponents' end line. When the game starts players may cross the center line into their opponents' territory and try to capture a piece of treasure to bring back to their treasure haul. As soon as they cross the center line, players may be tagged and thus made prisoners.

Prisoners are escorted to prison by their captor and must go quietly. Captors may not tag again until the prisoner has been incarcerated.

Any player who gets to the opposite end line without being tagged may either take one piece of treasure to their own backline or release one prisoner by tagging. As soon as the treasure or prisoner is touched the player is invulnerable and may walk back safely to their area with treasure or prisoner.

The game is won when one team has all the treasure in play along its own backline.

After game: Drink the beer and when the bottles are all empty, play bowling with a ball and the bottles as bowling pins!

---------	------------------------------	----------------	------------------------	---------------

Each player copies the category-list below (Feel free to add categories!). To pick a letter, one of the players says the alphabet in his/her head and another tells when to stop. The goal is to fill in the category-list with a word starting with the picked letter. When one person has filled in all the columns, the game ends and everyone compare their answers.

For each correct answer which no one else has, you get 2 points. For each correct answer which occurs several times among the players, you get 1 point. You can repeat this mini game as often as you want. At the end, the player with the most points wins.

Other game ideas

werewolves, card games, ball games... or just chilling is just fine too!

Where is Rally?

Another corona-proof game could be hide and seek. We as a committee already started hiding ourselves in this booklet. Can you find us all?

DICTIONARÜ

German Words

Backpfeifengesicht (slap face)

Backpfeifengesicht describes someone who you feel needs a slap in the face. You may want to be careful if and when you use this one: it's best used among good friends unless you're wanting to cause tension!

Kuddelmuddel (muddled mess)

Kuddelmuddel describes mess, chaos, or hodgepodge arrangements or scenes. Clever alternatives which mean the same include Tohuwabohu, Wirrwarr, Mischmasch, and Kladderadatsch.

Kummerspeck (gaining weight from comfort eating)

This one refers to the weight one might gain after a bad relationship break up. This may be one of the strangest literal German/English translations there is.

Treppenwitz (staircase joke)

If the best line, joke, or comeback always occurs to you after speaking to someone who needed to hear it, that's Treppenwitz. It's usually a snappy comeback that comes to your mind on the way out of the door, after you've finished speaking.

Schnapsidee

This is a quirky German word that means, “schnaps idea” or “booze idea”. It’s often used to indicate an idea so incredibly stupid or pointless that it’s originator must be slightly (or very) inebriated. It’s generally used to refer to any idea that seems foolish, stupid or improbable.

Verschlimmbesserung

If you tried to comfort yourself with ice-cream and it fell on the ground, it can only be described as Verschlimmbesserung. While this German word doesn’t have a simple literal translation, it describes an attempt at improving a bad or hopeless situation, but this attempt only makes things worse.

German Sayings

My hair stands up to the mountain

Mir stehen die Haare zu Berge

I’ve got goosebumps

You have a bird

Du hast doch einen Vogel

You are crazy

Now we have the salad

Nun haben wir den Salat

Well, here we have what we deserve

Lid down, monkey dead

Klapp zu, Affe tot

That’s it
